

IN 1952, THE TERPS
SPOONED UP ONE OF HISTORY'S
SWEETEST BOWL GAMES.

THIS YEAR, THE ACTION
WILL BE JUST AS TASTY!

Big passes. Hardnosed hitting. Maryland pride. These are the ingredients that made the 1952 Maryland Terrapins one of college football's all-time greatest teams. And kept the fans on their feet, roaring, game after stunning game.

And guess what? The spirit of that Sugar Bowl classic still lives at every Terps home game. From the pregame tailgaters to the spirited pageantry. Big hits to long bombs. Juking runners. Fearless receivers. Talented players with a lot to prove.

So come on out and enjoy a taste of 1988 Terrapin action. We guarantee: it's gonna' be one sweet experience!

IN 1975, THE UNDERDOG TERPS
CHEWED UP FLORIDA
IN THE GATOR BOWL.

THIS YEAR, THE ACTION
WILL BE JUST AS SCRUMPTIOUS!

Underdogs. That's what they called the Terps in 1975 as they took the field against the powerful Florida Gators. But three interceptions and a fumble recovery later, the Gators were nothing but mud puppies. Final score: 13-0.

And guess what? We get to play the underdog role once again in 1988. We've been called a young team. A building team. Everything but a dangerous team. And you know what that makes the 1988 Maryland Terps?

Mean. And very hungry.
Come see for yourself!

IN THE 1984 SUN BOWL, THE MARYLAND TERPS TURNED SURE DEFEAT INTO BLAZING GLORY.

THIS YEAR, THE ACTION
WILL BE JUST AS FLASHY!

Nobody knows if this year's Terps will be as exciting as the thrilling '84 team—the one that pulled off college football's greatest ever single-game comeback. And followed it up with an electrifying, come-from-behind nail-biter, 28-27, over Tennessee in the Sun Bowl.

But it's easy to warm up to the idea.

Consider: this young team has plenty of untried talent and a lot to prove. And as anyone will tell you, that's an explosive combination. So come on out. Grab a seat. And enjoy the kind of season that could burn itself into your memory. Forever.
